SOUTH RUNWAY – NAV CANADA INFLIGHT TESTING

Tuesday, May 25, 2021, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., NAV CANADA will be doing inflight testing of the guiding systems of the south runway (06R-24L). These tests are needed to maintain the facilities to safety standards and could generate overflights of NAV CANADA's aircraft over areas that are not usually overflown.

Please note that the aircraft's flight path as well as any modification that could be made to the above information will be posted on WebTrak.
